

Undergraduate Course Syllabus

JUS 394: Problems in Policing

Center: Online

Course Prerequisites

None

Course Description

This course involves discussion and study of specific problems of law enforcement and policing in contemporary American society. It emphasizes the development, nature, and function of law enforcement as it relates to public criminal justice rather than private sector justice. Topical coverage consists of ethics, corruption, deadly force, civil liabilities, and other dilemmas commonly faced in the modern police system.

Course Outcomes

- Learn about the evolution of the police function in the United States
- Raise and deliberate on contemporary issues of ethics in policing
- Weigh and assess contemporary operational and administrative issues confronting law enforcement agencies in the United States
- Analyze the changing role of police agencies in the United States
- Critique police recruiting, hiring, and training
- Weigh and gauge the issues involved in the use of force, including deadly force
- Discover the numerous grounds for the imposition of civil liability

Required Materials

Using your learning resources is critical to your success in this course. Please purchase directly through SNHU's online bookstore, MBS Direct, rather than any other vendor. Purchasing directly from the bookstore ensures that you will obtain the correct materials and that the Help Desk, your advisor, and the instructor can provide you with support if you have problems.

Instructor Availability and Response Time

Your class interaction with the instructor and your classmates will take place in Blackboard on a regular, ongoing basis. Your instructor will be actively engaged within the course throughout the week. You will normally communicate with your instructor in the weekly discussions or the General Questions forum in Blackboard so that your questions and the instructor's answers benefit the entire class. You should feel free, however, to communicate with your instructor via SNHU email at any time, particularly when you want to discuss something of a personal or sensitive nature. Your instructor will generally provide a response within 24 hours.
